World Fair Trade Day - 8th May

"Fairtrade means fairer pay and more power in the hands of farmers, so that they can create change for us all, from investing in climate friendly farming techniques and clean water for their community, to nurturing women leaders and making sure children get an education." -

Within education, we want to empower children to make healthy choices when it comes to food. Alongside this, we can also highlight the importance of ethical purchases and the impact this has on growers and suppliers around the world. DDE has a list of Fair Trade resources available on the Global Centre's website below:

Eid-ul-Fitr - 12th May - Day celebrated by Muslims to mark the end of Ramadan.

Through Religious Education, children learn about many of the religious beliefs and practices followed by people around the world. This month the celebration of Eid-ul-Fitr (also known simply as Eid or Id) falls on the day of the first new moon after Ramadan, and marks the end of a month of fasting. As well as celebrating the end of fasting, Muslims also express thanks to Allah for giving them strength to practise self-restraint during the previous month. The links below explore this Islamic festival further and can be used in an assembly, or within an R.E lesson.

International Day Against Homophobia, Transphobia & Biphobia - 17th May

Covered within anti-bullying policies, homophobia, transphobia and biphobia is often implicit within anti-bullying lessons. There is a great benefit to explicit discussion when it comes to anti-LGBT settlement however, studies have shown that LGBT bullying incidents have declined when a school has explicitly condemned this form of bullying. Visibility is also validating, and as visibility is on the rise (declaring pronouns on social media etc.) then any of the resources below can help equip young learners for our modern, and more accepting, world. These resources can be used as single assemblies or a series of sessions.
