

DDE Newsletter No. 172

Climate Crisis – Climate Justice

Coffee, bananas and malaria: Uganda's farmers battle to survive in the face of climate change.

Read more ...

Countries that will survive climate change: Is your country on the list? Read more ...

'Worthless' forest carbon offsets risk exacerbating climate change. Read more ...

Other News

Anger over fish stocks as Senegal village mourns boat disaster dead. Grieving relatives and friends of people who died in Cape Verde boat disaster say more will leave unless conditions improve. Read more ...

What is life like inside the world's biggest refugee camp? Six years after Myanmar's brutal crackdown, Al Jazeera explores the current living conditions in Rohingya refugee camps. Read more...

Inside Mali: What now for the country that bet its security on Wagner? Read more ...

Fukushima nuclear plant is set to flush tonnes of water into the sea – but is it safe? Japan's decision to release radioactive water from the tsunami-hit power plant has divided groups – is it entirely safe or staggeringly stupid? Read more ...

Can BRICS end 'apartheid' against the Global South? As the grouping of five emerging economies meets in South Africa, here's what to expect. Read more ...

Local News ...

Windrush generation 'British front room' recreated in Exeter. An art installation of a "nostalgic British West Indian front room" has gone on display, as part of events to mark the 75th anniversary of the Windrush generation. Read more ...

Telling Stories: The Humanities in an Age of Planetary Agenda Setting - A new set of illustrations. Read more ...

Find out how Exeter's oldest building was saved from the ruins. Read more ...

Topics discussed at Thursday's World at Lunch

UK asylum backlog hits record high as over 175,000 await decision. Labour decries 'chaos' after data shows number of decisions rose but was cancelled out by bigger increase in applications. Read more ...

William Gladstone: family of former British PM to apologise for links to slavery. Descendants of PM, whose father's wealth came from sugar plantations, travel to Guyana for 200th anniversary of rebellion by enslaved Africans. Read more ...

Burkina Faso, Mali warn against military intervention in Niger. Niger's neighbours say any intervention to restore deposed President Mohamed Bazoum will be considered a 'declaration of war' against them. Read more ...

The GOP candidates were asked if they would support Trump as the presidential nominee if he was convicted. Here's how they responded. Read more ...

Put empty offices to good use – Friendship Fridays. Read letter ...

Campaigns ....

350.org: We demand that the Labour Party rejects austerity politics and backs a Green New Deal right now! Petition ...

Defend Climate Chaos: Tell Insurance CEO's: it's time to drop the toxic East Africa Crude Pipeline! Details ...

Campaigns Updates ...

Amnesty: Ghana parliament votes to abolish death penalty. Read more...