

Climate Crisis – Climate Justice

‘On borrowed time’: World marks new global heat record in March. European climate agency says ocean surface temperature also reached new record raising risk of extreme weather. Read more ...

European court rules human rights violated by climate inaction. A group of older Swiss women have won the first ever climate case victory in the European Court of Human Rights. Read more ...

Climate change is not a matter for human rights law. Read more ...

90-GWh thermal energy storage facility could heat a city for a year. An energy supplier in Finland has announced the upcoming construction of an underground seasonal thermal energy storage facility.

Read more ...

In A Fabled Kenyan Landscape, A Carbon Credit Project Is Paying Off. Read more ...

‘Carbon colonialism’ in Africa meets resistance as companies seek to sell carbon credits from conservation projects that often upend local livelihoods—or worse. Read more ...

Other News

Jerusalem ‘land grab’: Armenian community fear eviction after contentious deal. A developer has acquired historic land at seemingly bargain rates, amid claims of links to a settler group. Read more ...

After six months of war, I fear we may lose Palestine completely. Israel’s onslaught has been on a scale never seen before. I spend my days searching for hope. Read more ...

Kashmir’s apple orchards, millions of jobs, face threat from rail line. Apple farming is Kashmir’s biggest economic driver, employing millions. Now a new railway project threatens many of those livelihoods.

Read more ...

How one Mexican beach town saved itself from ‘death by tourism’. The sunny coastal town Puerto Escondido was on a direct path to overcrowding and devastation. But the community fought back.

Read more ...

Local News ...

Funding boost for Exeter’s incredible Bill Douglas Cinema Museum will allow more people to experience and research the unique collection. Read more ...

Cloud engineering could be more effective ‘painkiller’ for global warming than previously thought.

Read more ...

Topics discussed at Thursday's World at Lunch

Study reveals the top unexpected delights that can make your day. Driving through a run of green lights, catching a whiff of a familiar smell from your childhood, and finding a treasured lost item all featured in the top 30 list. Read more ...

Fleet of 41 electric buses set to take to Devon's roads ... in Exeter, North Devon and Torrington.

Read more ...

Torbay's buses to go electric after historic £27m investment in Bay's public transport. Read more ...

Peat bog slowly coming back, conservationists say. A project to restore peat bogs on Dartmoor is starting to reverse habitat loss. Read more ...

The French aristocrat who understood evolution 100 years before Darwin – and even worried about climate change. Georges-Louis Leclerc proposed species change and extinction back in the 1740s, a new book reveals Read more ...

From the frying pan to the fire: green onions ignite voter anger in South Korea's elections. A presidential visit to a supermarket amid a cost-of-living crisis was supposed to garner public support, but ended up feeding suspicions the leader is out of touch. Read more ...

Campaigns ...

Avaaz: Give young people a voice in the decisions made at the Summit of the Future, that will shape their lives for decades to come. Petition ...

The Summit of the Future in 2024. Read more ...

Greenpeace: MPs will be debating the Global Ocean Treaty on April 25th. Ask your MP to attend. Details ...

350.org: Rich countries: move the money into renewable energy! Officials from rich countries – who control billions of dollars – are about to meet in Washington DC (USA). Petition ...

Campaign Updates ...

Greenpeace: The Galápagos Marine Reserve is a powerful example of what ocean protection can achieve. Read more ...

CPRE: Countryside ahead on rooftop solar but England's full potential overlooked. Read more ...

Global Justice Now: Podcast: The secret world of investor courts. Listen ...